WELCOME

these walls

two-score and ten - these walls bear the memories of the birth and growth of this institution. these walls are more than mere extensions of the foundations - they are "biographies alive" - each brick imparting the story of its author. these walls tell of long, grueling nights; obscure growing pains; and bittersweet anticipation. these walls testify to true tests of will, stamina, and patience.

these walls are true witnesses of God's grace - these walls avow that each year God will bless and bring the yearbook and its creators to fullness. two-score and ten - these walls are roots.

To lose a friend is the greatest of all evils, but endeavor rather to rejoice that you possessed him than to mourn his loss. -Seneca Unforgettable...that's the best word to describe him. Vaughn Ramphal was a charmer, a "ladies man," a friend, a brother, and a son. His presence was magnetic and his smile contagious. Vaughn was so full of life, so full of energy, and these qualities radiated to all who surrounded him, to all who loved him. How could you not love Vaughn? It's so hard to come to terms with the death of someone you love. But all we can do as Vaughn's friends is thank God that he was a part of our lives who will live forever in our memories.

William Cleveland

Gracing our presence fall of 1996, Thamar brightened the campus with her effervescence. Her love for Christ and others was genuinely expressed everyday, as she would greet everyone with a hug and words of encouragement. An angel in disguise, Thamar would frequently stop her plans to help those in need; whether a listening ear, praying partner, or a laughing friend she always made time to cheer others. Utilizing her talents, Thamar was a dedicated member of Dynamic Praise, WSB Drama, Oakwood College Sabbath School group, and various other organizations at Oakwood as well as at home. She tirelessly worked as a behavioral specialist at the Harris Home for Children. Remembered first for her angelic character and second for the radiance of her smile, Thamar will forever remain in the hearts of everyone she met.

A MEMOIR

December 16, 1984 - September 16, 2002

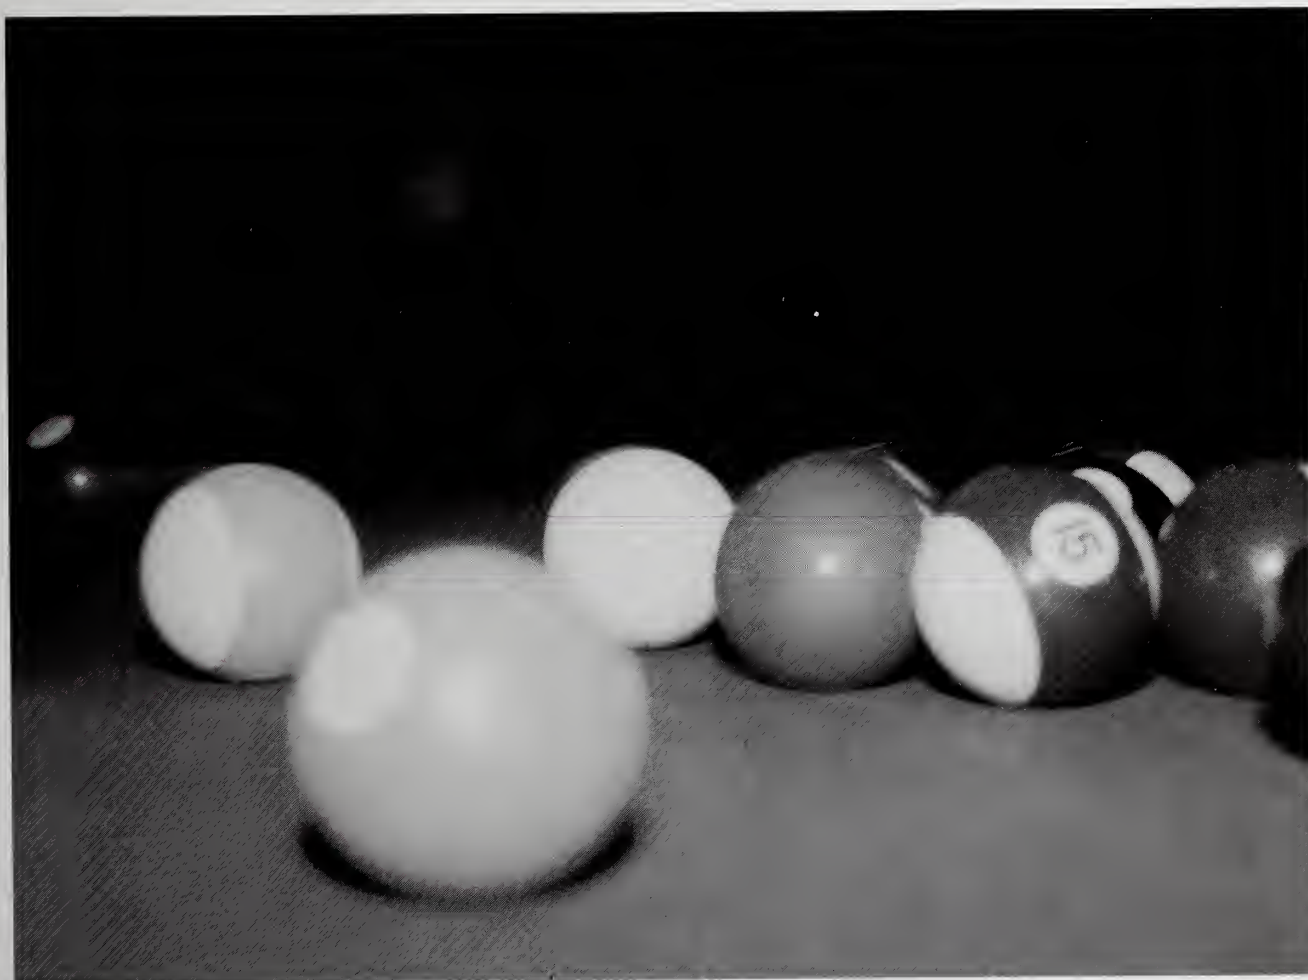

William Cleveland

Dalton graduated from Pine Forge Academy on May 26, 2002 and migrated down to the "Oaks." Although his time was short here at Oakwood College, Dalton's smile, touch, originality, voice and the very essence of his presence will be sadly missed, but will forever be etched in the recesses of our minds. Some may say Dalton's death was untimely, that he was robbed of living a full and complete life. However, as a child of God, Dalton's life was more meaningful and complete than many other lives will ever be. Thank God for His wonderful saving grace and as we continue this race, we keep the hope of seeing Dalton again.

PRESIDENT

Dear Students:

As we come to close of another year, we are reminded that Oakwood College continues its legacy of Education, Excellence, Eternity. And as we celebrate 50 issues of the Acorn Yearbook, we are thankful for what God has done for Oakwood College. We are also very clear that the Oakwood legacy is not built upon new roads and buildings, academic programs, or even a strong enrollment. The legacy is built upon its graduates- graduates who leave this institution determined to make a lasting and positive impact on the Church and society.

So we count on you, the Graduating Class of 2003, and every person who has walked these grounds, to wear the name of Oakwood College proudly. Preserve it from every attitude and act that might call question on its fair name. I pray that you might be inspired and motivated by the words and pictures of this special issue.

As you impact the Church, society, and the global community, we challenge you to make Oakwood proud of your life, virtues, and contributions. Because, after all, this is God's school and He looks to you to bring honor, not simply to Oakwood College, but to His name and to His kingdom as well.

Continued blessings and success to you.

Sincerely,

Delbert W. Baker, Ph.D.
President

Remembering Childhood

It's childhood

Like that last sip of kool-aid that takes you back to when singing in your hairbrush was the thing to do,

The sound of the ice cream truck that makes you think of BBQ sunflower seeds and sour straws
in the flavor blue,

Getting your hair braided so tight that you had to step on the edge of the bed,

Playing WWF with your older brothers and getting dropped on your head,

It's like when your curfew was the streetlight and juice only came in red,

It's like those stockings that itch while you sat in church service,

And passing notes in the hymnal and getting that look from your mom that made you nervous ,

It's childhood like before PS2, when the original Mario was all we knew,

When after school cartoons was the best thing
next to Fresh Prince of BelAir,

Childhood was like your first 'do you like me?'
circle yes or no letter,

and finding a Maybe written there,

It's like hand games and double dutch,

And birthday cake making your stomach hurt
'cause you ate too much,

It's losing your baby teeth,

And realizing that green beans were a form of punishment ,

along with no phone, no friends and no TV,

my image has been tarnished like pouring expensive wine into a broken goblet i gave to you poured myself to you until the last drop had fallen and you spilled me
you allowed my precious flavors to fall upon the floor and stain the carpet of peoples minds
you knew you were broken, cracked on the left side and right and chipped in the front
still you allowed me to pour myself into you maybe i should have been more cautious and examined you more carefully before allowing myself to be opened but its not competely my fault i assumed that since you were a glass, it was ok maybe since you were the one broken you should have removed yourself from the shelf lyrics- Gabrielle M.P. Barnes

He was born and rasied near corn he dont know nothing about thuggin he's representing projects he's never seen stealing his identity from MTV
My baby, my baby's got the hip hop blues

He speaks of powder milk and government cheese canned peanut butter, brother please That's something he never ate
And he's not even a picture

Baby, my baby's got the hip hop blues

The boy he calls his "dog" has red hair and milky skin bandana on his knee but he dont know which young he's in He's never seen a picture of himself he's piece
never rode the train, but he notes subway rats
My Baby, my baby's got the hip hop blues

Yeah, he's east coast,
not New York,
more like Maine
Not Chicago's L, 'cause he's never rode a train likes Tupac, so he's going back to Cali but how can he go back if he's not from there origin-ally?
My baby, my baby's got the hip hop blues

Says he wants a girl from the 'Hood, but where the Hood is, he dont know
He thinks he's one of the hip hop singers
For bye, he says "ONE" then shows me two fingers
My baby, my baby got the Hip hop blues

ORIENTATION

Your grades are going to suffer if you don't attend." You will receive your first 'F' in college if you stay in your dorm room during the time designated for orientation." "General Assembly will last for only 30 minutes." Now where have we all heard these tales before? Freshman Orientation-where else?

On Wednesday, August 14, 2002, over 300 freshmen flooded the campus. Carter Hall and Peterson Hall sprang to life after being empty the whole summer, while the freshmen hustled to get room situations straightened out.

The next three days for our budding Oakwoodites went by in a blur. Thursday, August 15th hosted registration, a final word from Dr. Baker, the departing ceremony, residence hall orientation, and the freshmen rally. Friday, August 16th presented a 3-hour long assembly, and after free time and a mall visit, the freshmen and new students consecration service.

Sunday, August 18th hosted the Success Session. For those of us too old to remember, this is the time where the professors give words of encouragement to newcomers, as well as tidbits of advice. It is also the time when we hear Bruce Peifer's school spirit clearly ring from Moran to Peterson to Carter with the famous "O. C.!" chant.

The two days before instruction began were action packed. The days of August 19th and 20th were designated for group activities, after a General Assembly that was slated for 30 minutes lasted for 4 hours. Freshmen and new students were divided into groups according to last name initials and Navigators were assigned to each group. Shannon Hill said, "I liked the Navigators... 'Big H!' They were really cool. They made the experience more fun because they were young."

Many freshmen shared varying sentiments concerning the activities.

"It was HOT outside!" says Sheena Mann, fanning herself at the thought. During the spider web activity some students claimed that they didn't like being forced to do the activities with certain nameless people dangling pending failing grades on invisible strings. As far as the "Building Scavenger Hunt" was concerned, Kimberly McFarland began in stating, "It was pretty good-"Until they had us running around the dark campus like slaves running from the plantation," interjects April Lee. Another thing that failed to make the "Top 5 Favorite Oakwood Memories" list was running from Eva B. Dykes lawn to Moran Hall during a thunderstorm.

Overall, the Freshmen Orientation was a success. The following exclamation by Nicceta Medley serves as a rebuttal to all complaints: "I wish I could've been there!"

BACK TO SCHOOL REVIVAL

It began with praise like life begins with the breath of Christ and ended with adoration and thanks to Christ. The annual Back to School revival left students with opened hearts and accepting the fact that this year would be one of revived academic, physical and spiritual success. The theme song said it all, "for us to have a revival this year we must ask GOD to dwell with us."

COLLEGE DAYS

all pictures 'copasetic'

Arriving from as far as England, Canada, and Bermuda seniors from various high schools trekked to the campus this October during the annual College Days. Representing their high school with the visiting seniors, many Oakwoodites pulled out their dusty jackets, sweaters, shirts and hats.

USM SPIRIT WEEK

From the best dressed to the worst buyer, the fall USM spirit week was a blast. Opening the week with prayer students sent Prayer-grams and signed the wall with prayer requests and thanks. OC students stepped onto the 'Unofficial Red Carpet' at dinner tuesday. For the remainder of the week, students were urged to dress up in themes Rep your City and Super Twin day. The attendance and participation at the annual auction thursday night and the Ambassador's Pep Rally saturday night proved that OC has got that HUMP-DEY, DUMP-DEY, DUMP spirit!

USM BARBEQUE

The atmosphere was very estactic around Ashby Auditorium as crowds of students overwhelemened the outside court area on September the 2nd. USM cabinet members 'qued grillers and vegge-links at the annual Labor Day Barbeque. Food, friends and a little basketball enjoyed the holiday Southern' style. This is the way Oakwood students enjoyed a sunshined filled labour day. It's how this school year of revival got rollin,.... food, friends and fellowship.

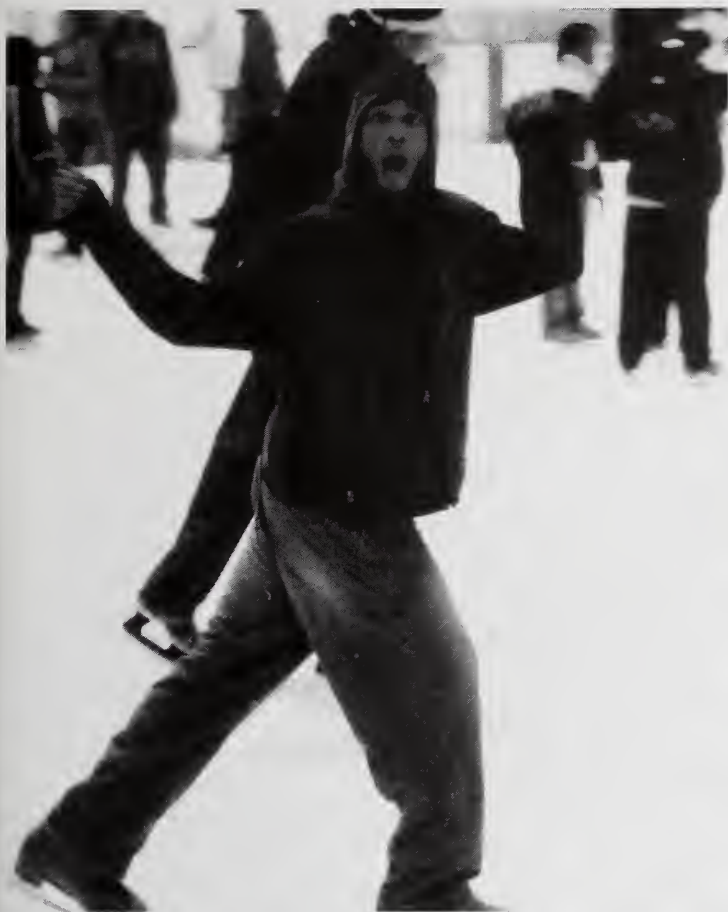

USM ACTIVITY on ice

Although it's been done countless times before, all who go still enjoy. Oakwoodites brave the freezing tempture to enjoy a night of ice skating.

snow storm 2003

At about 12:15 am on January 23rd, "Let's go outside and play!" was the big idea on Oakwood Campus, especially at Edwards and Wade. The biggest Snow Storm in Oakwood College History since however long ago started off with huge snow flurries. Well, maybe not the biggest... maybe not even a snow storm but it was enough to get us hyped and out of school for a few hours the next day. The residents of Edwards, Wade, Carter and Peterson Halls raced to be the first to play in the snow. Snow fights broke out between friends, couples, and eventually girls vs. guys. Cameras flashed as we tried to capture the moment. According to Rochelle Carter, a sophomore, "This is what student life at Oakwood is all about. Getting hyped about silly stuff with your friends."

Though classes were only canceled until 1pm... very few people actually showed up for their later classes, including teachers. According to one student, the BT Building was closed up, neither teachers nor students made an appearance. What was everyone doing? The most popular thing to do when school is canceled- not a thing! Senior student, Denise Tolbert, said her snow day started when she woke up at 11:00 and watched movies all day. "It was quite relaxing. I needed the break since I hadn't done my homework for the day."

DEPARTMENTS

In 1933 the Acorn succeeded the Bulletin. The school was well developed as a junior college and many new developments were taking place within the student body. A new generation of students began to travel through the corridors; students who were younger and in many cases more advanced and better prepared for collegiate studies made up the constituency. Hence the Acorn was published monthly with the exceptions of July and September, and became known as "a journal of student activity." For twelve-years the Acorn served the junior college well as the medium to keep the alumni, onlookers, and the then-present student body bound together. In 1944 the institution took another stride of growth and offered senior college work with degrees; the first senior class graduated in May 1945. In harmony with the progress of the school, the student body voted to separate the Acorn publication, naming the newspaper The Spreading Oak and the yearbook Acorn. With that vote, the first volume was published Spring 1946 by the United Student Movement and accepted as the official yearbook of Oakwood College.

The Miss UNCF Pageant has been dormant at Oakwood, but the Pre-Alumni Council has recommitted itself by hosting the first Miss UNCF Pageant in ten years.

The event was emceed by Alumni Kym Richardson, a news anchor at WHNT Channel 19 and kicked off with a welcome from Council President David Franklin. President Delbert Baker also offered a second welcome in which he cited how important the UNCF is to Oakwood. Baker also stated that Oakwood College receives over 1 million dollars from the UNCF to go towards the operation of our college.

Although the UNCF helps support institutions, they ask that the schools help themselves and that is what Miss UNCF is about. The pageant is focused around fundraising, the winner of the pageant being determined by the contestant that raises the most funds. This alone separates Miss UNCF from Miss Oakwood where talent and articulation are the deciding factors.

Renee Ramon, a junior, was crowned Miss UNCF for her wonderful fundraising abilities.

renee ramon

MISS UNCF 2003

I am a daughter, a sister, an aunt, a scholar, a deep-seated Christian, and a person who enjoys life to the fullest. I am Renée Patrice Ramón. The fiber of my foundation was molded and polished in Atlanta, GA, by my parents Mr. and Mrs. G.C. Ramón. I am presently a junior Health Care Administration major, Computer Information Systems minor, graduating in spring 2004.

As Miss UNCF of Oakwood College my duties are to volunteer my time to young men and women who yearn for a Christian lifestyle and betterment for their lives by receiving an education because, "A Mind Is A Terrible Thing To Waste". I will travel from state to state as a motivational speaker inspiring and encouraging others to lead successful lives. I am very honored and privileged to be able to wear this crown and to have participated in this pageant because it has shown me that the Lord will lay out many positive outcomes if you keep Him first, do your very best, and work hard. I have been determined here at Oakwood to burn my flame through dedication and commitment so that I can reach my goals. In the process of burning my flame, my life, through God, will enthruse and motivate others along the way, thus, igniting other flames and beginning an everlasting legacy.

Alicia Shelly

The Miss UNCF pageant was a great experience for me. it taught me that patience, perseverance, hard work, and faith really pay off. I hope next year more women will take advantage of this great opportunity.

Charlisa Delancy

Miss UNCF 2002-2003 pageant served for me as a period of reflection, refinement, and reformation. I enjoyed the new friendships formed and I appreciated the many insightful lessons imparted to me. This pageant has stirred up within me the desire to master the art and power of being a true lady. There may only be one winner, but they all walk away with more grace, more elegance and more refined than when they came.

Fiona James

Participating in the Miss UNCF fund raising event has been an enjoyable learning experience for me. All the ladies involved are genuine beauties and it was a blessing interacting with their personalities.

Shira Bruner

An event that has lain dormant for a full decade. An opportunity to give back...while I am still here. More than rhinestone studded crowns and empty glamour; I found Miss UNCF a cause worth my time and effort. And I had fun doing it.

The privilege of being Ms. Oakwood 2003 is an experience that I will treasure for years to come. I will cherish the camaraderie I shared with my fellow contestants. I pray that during my reign I can bring about campus-wide social awareness as well as encourage respect for ourselves and each other. I thank God, my family, and friends for their support and look forward to a year unparalleled to none other.

MISS OAKWOOD 2003

beat of a different drum

excerpts of Spreading Oak

Bump-Bump-Bump. This year's Miss Oakwood pageant definitely set a new cadence to an old beat. The eleventh annual pageant entertained a more tactful and pleasant crowd in a timely manner, ending before 10:00 p.m.

All of the contestants were beautiful and full of life. Their talents represented them completely. April set the mood in song with her soulful tunes; Candice played a soft musical piece on the piano; Sylvia graced the crowd with a violin solo; Shalondra opened the minds of the crowd with an expressive poem; and Porsche lightened the mood with her operatic and humorous tune.

After all was said and done, the ladies took their walks across the stage in their stunning gowns, and the judges made their decision. Porsche Vanderhorst claimed her crown with style and grace in front of a supporting audience.

Shalondra McKinney First Runner Up

Not only did the Miss Oakwood Pageant teach me presentation and poise, but it built my character as well. The pageant was a learning experience. I learned that using an extensive vocabulary can elevate you to prominent levels.

Sylvia Lyew Second Runner Up

It was by divine providence that I entered this pageant. My first reaction when asked to enter this pageant was, "Are you crazy?" But halfway through it I realized that God led me to make this decision, to enrich my walk with Him. Looking back at the whole picture, I see what a beautiful work He has created. I'm glad I was "crazy" enough to make it one of the best experiences of my life.

Candice Johns

Participating in the Miss Oakwood pageant this year was a big challenge. As a result, my self confidence grew, and I made four great friends. I'm so glad I took part in it.

April Burks

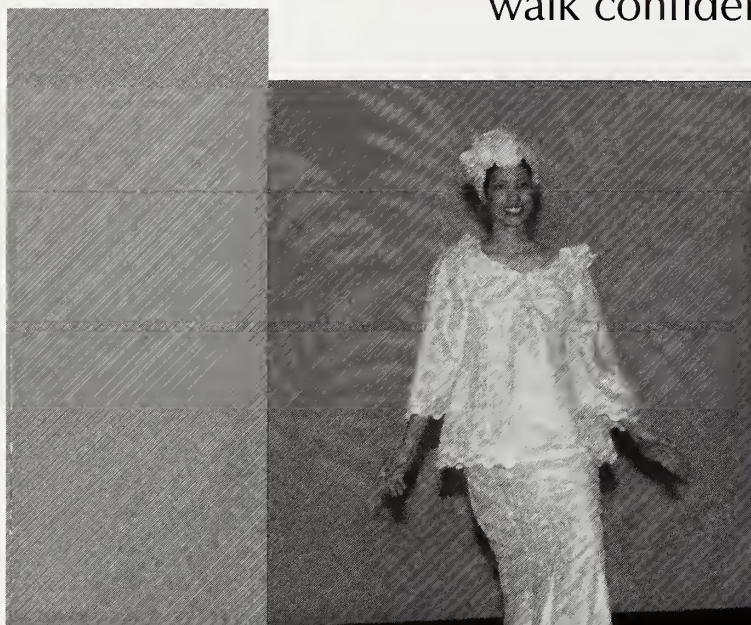

The idea of running for Miss Oakwood 2003 seemed farfetched for the longest time. After much thought and prayer, God gave me the motivation to become a contestant. From the very first workshop, to the first time I set foot on the stage, I developed a positive spirit and etiquette which remain with me. Now that it's all said and done I can look back and say, "This was for me." I thank God for guiding me and giving me strength.

depart to serve GRADUATION

The event was held on May ,2002. The class presented was rather small. It was one of the smallest classes to ever be presented by Oakwood College. Many looked upon this fact in a negative manner, on the contrary, because of the size of the graduating class, the class of 2003 will be one the largest classes to Graduate Oakwood College. The class will consist of a large portion of students scheduled to graduate in 2003, most of the students scheduled to graduate 2002, and a portion of students to scheduled graduate in 2000 and 2001. It is very common to enter college unsure of a career decision. It is also common to enter with one career choice and have a change of heart mid course. This is the reasoning for the size of the gradating class of 2002. Let this rare situation be a lesson to those remaining and those to come. The path will not always be smooth, bumps and hurdles will be thrown in periodically. Do not loose focus, it does not matter how long it takes to become success because in the end the rewards are all the same. We give congratulations to the class of 2002 as well as the lustrous class of 2003. We wish you the best of luck and hope that your journey here at Oakwood was a memorable one. Keep God first in all that you do and he will direct your path.

sweet SENIOR anticipation PRESENTATION 2003

Recharge Center

In the words of the senior class motto, "The past is history, our future a mystery, and the present is a gift from God." As the senior presentation commenced on January 15th, the class of 2003 realized that their time at Oakwood is truly becoming history. Senior class president, Terry-Ann Griffin, stated that it was "A very special service, the beginning of the end..."

The senior class listened to the address from Pastor Carlton Byrd, who encouraged them in their journey. The senior class aim, "One God, One Aim, One Destiny" is their focus as graduation draws nearer and 'real life' beckons. As they marched out of Oakwood Church, it was the resounding prayer that they keep God first in life. The future is led by the present, and for the Senior Class of 2003, the future is now.

ACORN

Keepers of our rich heritage, fifty volumes strong.

From the dawn of the industrial age, to the dawn of modernity, the strength of the Acorn has been the pride of the nation, through the era of discovery, through the hills, the pride of the nation.

the Acorn has stood as strong as the Oak tree from which it originates. While gaining nourishment from the roots of the Oak, it feeds knowledge to those who wish to collect it.

A DIFFERENT KIND OF LEARNING

Student Profiles: Profiles of Students who have left lasting impressions

Winfred Hawkins:

A Portrait of My Life

As an upperclassman in High School Winfred Hawkins was ready to give up his passion. A very artistically gifted individual, Winfred was annoyed with the art program offered at his school. His passion for art began to wane as time went by and he was ready to give it up for good. Then he arrived on Oakwood College campus and things came back into perspective.

The earliest memory Hawkins mother has of him drawing was when he drew a covered wagon of the television around the age of three. He also remembers when he drew and wrote things upside down. His father was his first art teacher, but as he perfected his style he moved on. He was briefly taught by a fellow church member and then by an independent teacher his parents hired.

Although Winfred does not believe his art is "that great", we have all seen and appreciated his artwork throughout Oakwood campus. He has an artwork on the second floor of the Business and Technology Building and another in the Eva B. Dykes Library. He also has sold pieces to help pay for school.

A permanent resident of Montgomery, Alabama Winfred is a nineteen year old freshman. Originally he intended to attend Savannah College of Art Design to major in Graphic Design and to be a freelance artist, but things changed. During the time he has been here, he has learned many things. He also believes that God brought him here.

When he looks at his works for sale he says, "I find the faults and think why would anyone buy it. Though at times I didn't see the value of my gifts, God brought me to a place where I could appreciate it."

Steven Mackey:

Diamond in the Rough

A multi-talented artist, Steven "Stevie" Mackey touches many with his rich, melodic tenor voice. With an early love for music and a wonderful voice, Stevie was unheard in his younger years ironically. Stevie fondly recalls that he would not sing when in the choir, "I would just stand there listening. I just loved hearing the various voices and the music together." If he was ever kicked out for not participating we will never know, but what we do know is that his hidden voice was finally released.

Recognizing his talent as the Lord's, he believes his responsibility is his voice. Through song he fulfills his calling to reach others. His calling was not easily reached as various opportunities for self-gratification fell all over him. One of which was the 2002 American Idol talent show. Informed of the

"Ask for today's blessings... live for today as if it were your last"

-Stevie Mackey

When in Nashville, Stevie pondered trying to live with the haunting thought that... he chose to go and successfully completing several elimination rounds, Stevie was chosen to go to Hollywood. However, Stevie chose otherwise.

While totally enjoying the experience, Stevie realized that many contestants were counting on American Idol for their lives, offering to sacrifice anything. He also noticed that the show should have been about strictly about talent, but really wasn't. Knowing that the order of his life was in the Lord's hands he chose to return to school. He truly believes that in order to be proud of himself he must have faith in God's plan.

Asked if he ever regrets not going on to the next levels, he assuredly answers "No, but I do wish I didn't miss class."

James Henry:

Prayer Warrior

James Marlon Henry believes he was inspired by God to help unite the campus spiritually. James knows that prayer is a powerful tool, one that everyone must rely on in order to live in God's grace.

Taking the role as coordinator of the Bell Tower ministries, James with the help of six others band together as prayer warriors for the campus. Come rain or shine they faith fully stand at the bell tower asking passing students their prayer requests and then praying for them. While many pass acting too busy to stop, James and his team pray for them anyway. Those who do stop enjoy a short Bible study and the fellowship before prayer is offered.

Evans, and fiancée Jennifer Grammont.

Prayer has helped so many lives that he could testify all day if asked. Many students and others have returned to thank the Bell Tower ministry with stories of praise.

Sabrina Prieur

Sky's the Limit

If you hear someone yelling "Westside" as they flip through the air during an Aerostars performance, chances are it's the captain, twenty- year old Sabrina Marie Prieur.

Sabrina is a native of Sacramento, California and makes sure everyone knows it. Sabrina is a senior physical education major with a love for gymnastics. She started tumbling while in elementary school, later receiving professional competition training while in high school.

Asked why does he feel that he should dedicate his time to pray for others, James exclaims " It is the last days and I must help God's children get ready to see their Father coming." James has a burden on his heart to do God's work and knows that he is trained for saving souls.

Quite humble, James never wants to take credit for remaining faithful to the Bell Tower Ministry, acknowledging that it wouldn't be without the help of the others, Andre Bruce, Herbert Charles, Gibbs Hilaire, Freddie Seeing her undeniable passion for the sport, the Physical Education department offered her a position in restarting the gymnastics team. Outdated and forgotten Oakwood's gymnastics team had been nonexistent for years. Sabrina's positive attitude spirited the new Aerostars composed of males and females with the love of flipping in the air. Leading long nites of practice, grueling exercise and prayer sessions Sabrina with the assistance of Holly Small molded the Aerostars into a tumbling team.

Thanks to Sabrina and the rest of the Aerostars, half time at our basketball games are much more fun.

A second passion in jazz, Sabrina plans to attend Florida International University after graduating from Oakwood. Questioned about her outlook for the team once she graduates she eagerly replies with crossed fingers, "hoping that L. Daniels will take my spot and help Holly hold it together."

Holly Small:

Tumbling into New Beginnings

Gymnastics for her is, in one word, an addiction with great reason. As co-captain of the Aerostars, Holly L. Small is well qualified. Holly is an 18-year old native of Benton Harbor, Michigan where she has been training and competing in gymnastics the age of six.

Holly's most memorable gymnastic moment was actually a blunder. "I was tumbling in high school and my jersey flew over my head. I flashed the entire crowd," she laughs. Holly fell in love with the sport when she saw Dominique Dawes perform in the 1992 Summer Olympics. "She was soooo graceful and pretty," Holly recalls. That inspiration led Holly to fully dedicate herself for better or worse. Parentally given the option of attending any Adventist institution (most with well-established gymnastic programs) for college, Holly chose Oakwood. Holly believes that she was following the guidance of God by choosing Oakwood, although she knew that Oakwood had no program.

"It's a rush.. your airborn and free"

-Sabrina Prieur

107

God's greater plan was revealed when she was approached to help reestablish the Aerostars, with Sabrina, after an open call for anyone with some type of gymnastic experience. Together they have managed, coached and trained the Aerostars through various performances on-campus and off.

When asked her long-term goal, she looks out the yearbook office window, turns back and says, "Anything I want, but ultimately I want to own my own training facility for all athletes."

If you don't learn anything else while here at Oakwood, please take to heart the things discussed within the next 10 pages. There are some things that you can not learn in the classroom and these are just a few of the high points. There comes a time in everyones life when common sense over powers all academic reasoning, and in those circumstances one needs to be able to adapt.

way too often we let others dictate and make decisions that do not directly concern them. though it may seem to be in our best interest, we are young adults. To live is to learn, no one will be able to mature without trial and error. on a different note when you are wrong be a man about and say you are wrong. and if you know a person is wrong be the bigger person, step up to the plate and say so. far too often we are disgusted and angry be hind closed doors. we do all this talking about action, when in fact talking is the only action taken. when it is time to act, the main people running their mouths are no where to be found. we need more leaders in this community. if there is no one to lead who are we following. we are so focused on diverting from the ways of the world we are running blindly into the lifestyle we so harshly look upon. by lying , cheating, and scheming we are teaching future generations that the only way to be successful is by corruption. every day we ask the question what is this world to? an answer I don't have but if we continue to lead in the way we have in the passed our destiny is sure to be doomed

Roommates are the best-- sharing jurts and excitements, jam sessions, and a box of cookies from home. There are casual dates and steady sweethearts, totally different, yet kindred still. There are teachers, who care and pray for students and students who do the same. Then there are the familiar faces, not close friends, but fellow- students. These relationships with each other give a small taste of the possible relationship with the Best of Friends.

AMBASSADOR KRAZZIES

It's 4:47 pm central standard time, I awake excited from my customary Sabbath rest. I'm excited. Tonight we play. "Who?" it doesn't matter. I take a shower, to purify myself for my task, and focused my energy.

The attire is blue and gold, anyway, anyhow.... Those aren't just colors I wear; tonight those are the colors I bleed.

It's 5:22 pm central standard time, I'm late I gotta get to warm ups on time. I gotta support my girls, they always support me.

Sometimes they win, sometimes they don't but through it all they are MY girls. Tonight was a big win, Hillari dropped 23 and grapped 15 boards, both Ericas' well, Lee had 13 and Marrow had 9 with some blocks. Danita and Michelle did their thing too...

It's 8:13 pm central standard time I'm ready. The starters have been introduced and the national anthem has been sung. It's time. My heart skips beat as the tip off occurs.

Tonight the opponent is extra tough... I gotta bring my "A" game. I gotta do the little things.

Just like the girls, sometimes we win, sometimes we lose... tonight was a tough win. We fought hard, we won on a missed free throw.

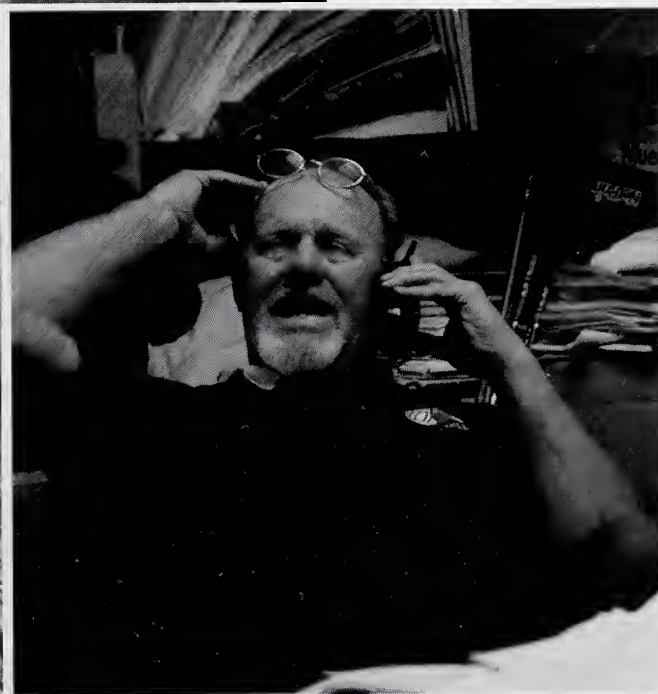

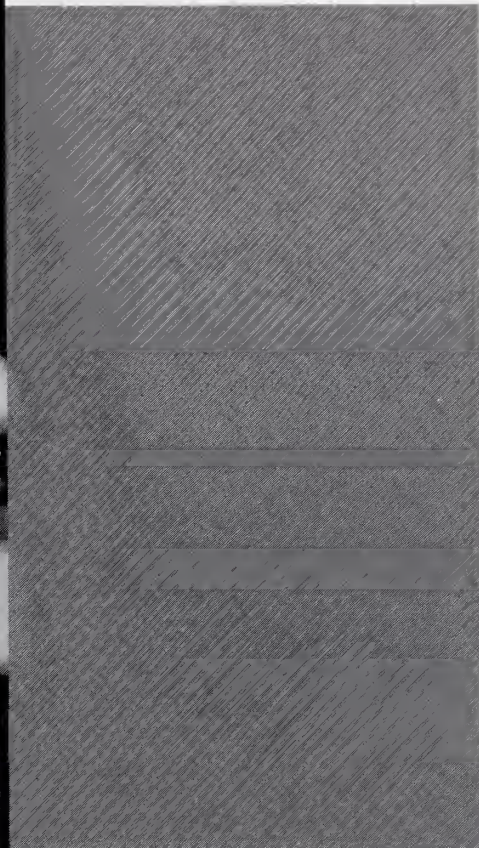

The guys said it was me, I said that they just gave me a chance.

It was just another day at the office, I'm worker number 6, I'm a AMBASSODOR KRAZZIE

UNITED STUDENT MOVEMENT

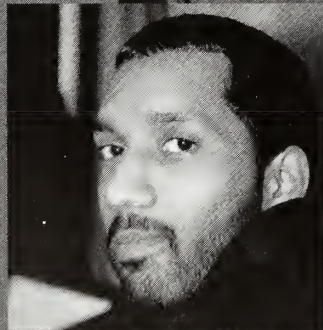

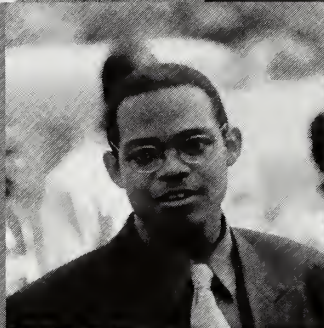

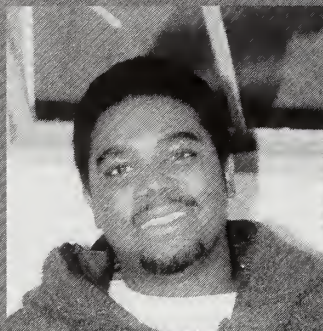

Hey Oakwood!!!

From the back to school revival, to the many weeks of prayer, to the powerful AY programs, the concerts, plays, chapels, and the basketball games, this was truly a year of "Revival." God has richly blessed our campus. He blessed it with th best Admisistration, the best faculty, the best food (smile), the best dreams and last but not least the best students. Oakwood, you have truly made my year special, and for this I sat thanks you! Sure we have our share of problems, our issues, our slow lines, and our leaks, but that's what makes us special. There is no where on earth like Oakwood College, and I am blessed to have the opportunity to serve you all this year as your USM President!

So as we end this great year, I want to encourage you all to keep Christ number one in your lives. Don't let this experince go to waste. Keep a song on your heart, and know that no matter what, God loves you very much, and so do I. Stay strong Oakwood College, and you better not forget me. Until we meet again on that glorious day, look for the six-foot five guy with four wings by the tree of life, next to the sea of glass. "The sea is glass!" (K.B.) Outta here!

Dear Oakwood College,

This year students have experienced many trials and triumphs as an institution and as countrymen and women. Freedom, specifically freedom of speech is a main issue that has been discussed. The question of, "what opinions we have the right to hold?" and "how and when can we express them?" have been asked. In the context of our country, church and other venues the debate continues, but at Oakwood College, the answer is clear.

The students of OC each have the right to hold a variety of opinions, which may be expressed in a variety of ways. Although the opportunity of freedom of expression is there, one should think carefully about the repercussions of their chosen method. One should want to perform thought provoking actions—leaving individuals feeling proud versus ashamed, informed versus angry, accountable versus negligent and inattentive.

This is exactly what the Spreading Oak staff and Oakwood College student body achieved this year. Students expressed how they felt, what they liked, what they did not like, what they did not understand and sometimes accept. Students used their voices to motivate each other, communicate with administration and convey what was on their minds and hearts.

As Editor-in-Chief I would just like to say, thanks. Thank you students for believing in the power of your voice. Thank you for being proactive and in-tune with the day-to-day issues around our campus, church and world. And thank you students for making the Spreading Oak, truly, a student publication.

May God continue to bless each one of you. Remember one voice can make a difference.

Sincerely,

Katara Watkins
Editor-in-Chief 2002-2003

aeolians

Porsche Vandhorst

3:00am, the alarm sounds. Such an odd time to awaken on a Thursday morning...well not if you are a member of the Oakwood College Aeolians, for whom, waking up at 3am in order to catch a 4:30am bus to Anywhere USA is an all too common occurrence. Traveling is as much of a signature of the world renowned Aeolians as is their aesthetically pleasing, soul lifting sound. Though the bus is sometimes cold, the packing tedious, and the company monotonous (but never boring), traveling is the rewarding culmination of daily two hour practices, heavy folders full of music, and the opportunity to sport new formal wear. For the Aeolians, nothing beats the pride they feel after sharing their ministry abroad.

voices of triumph

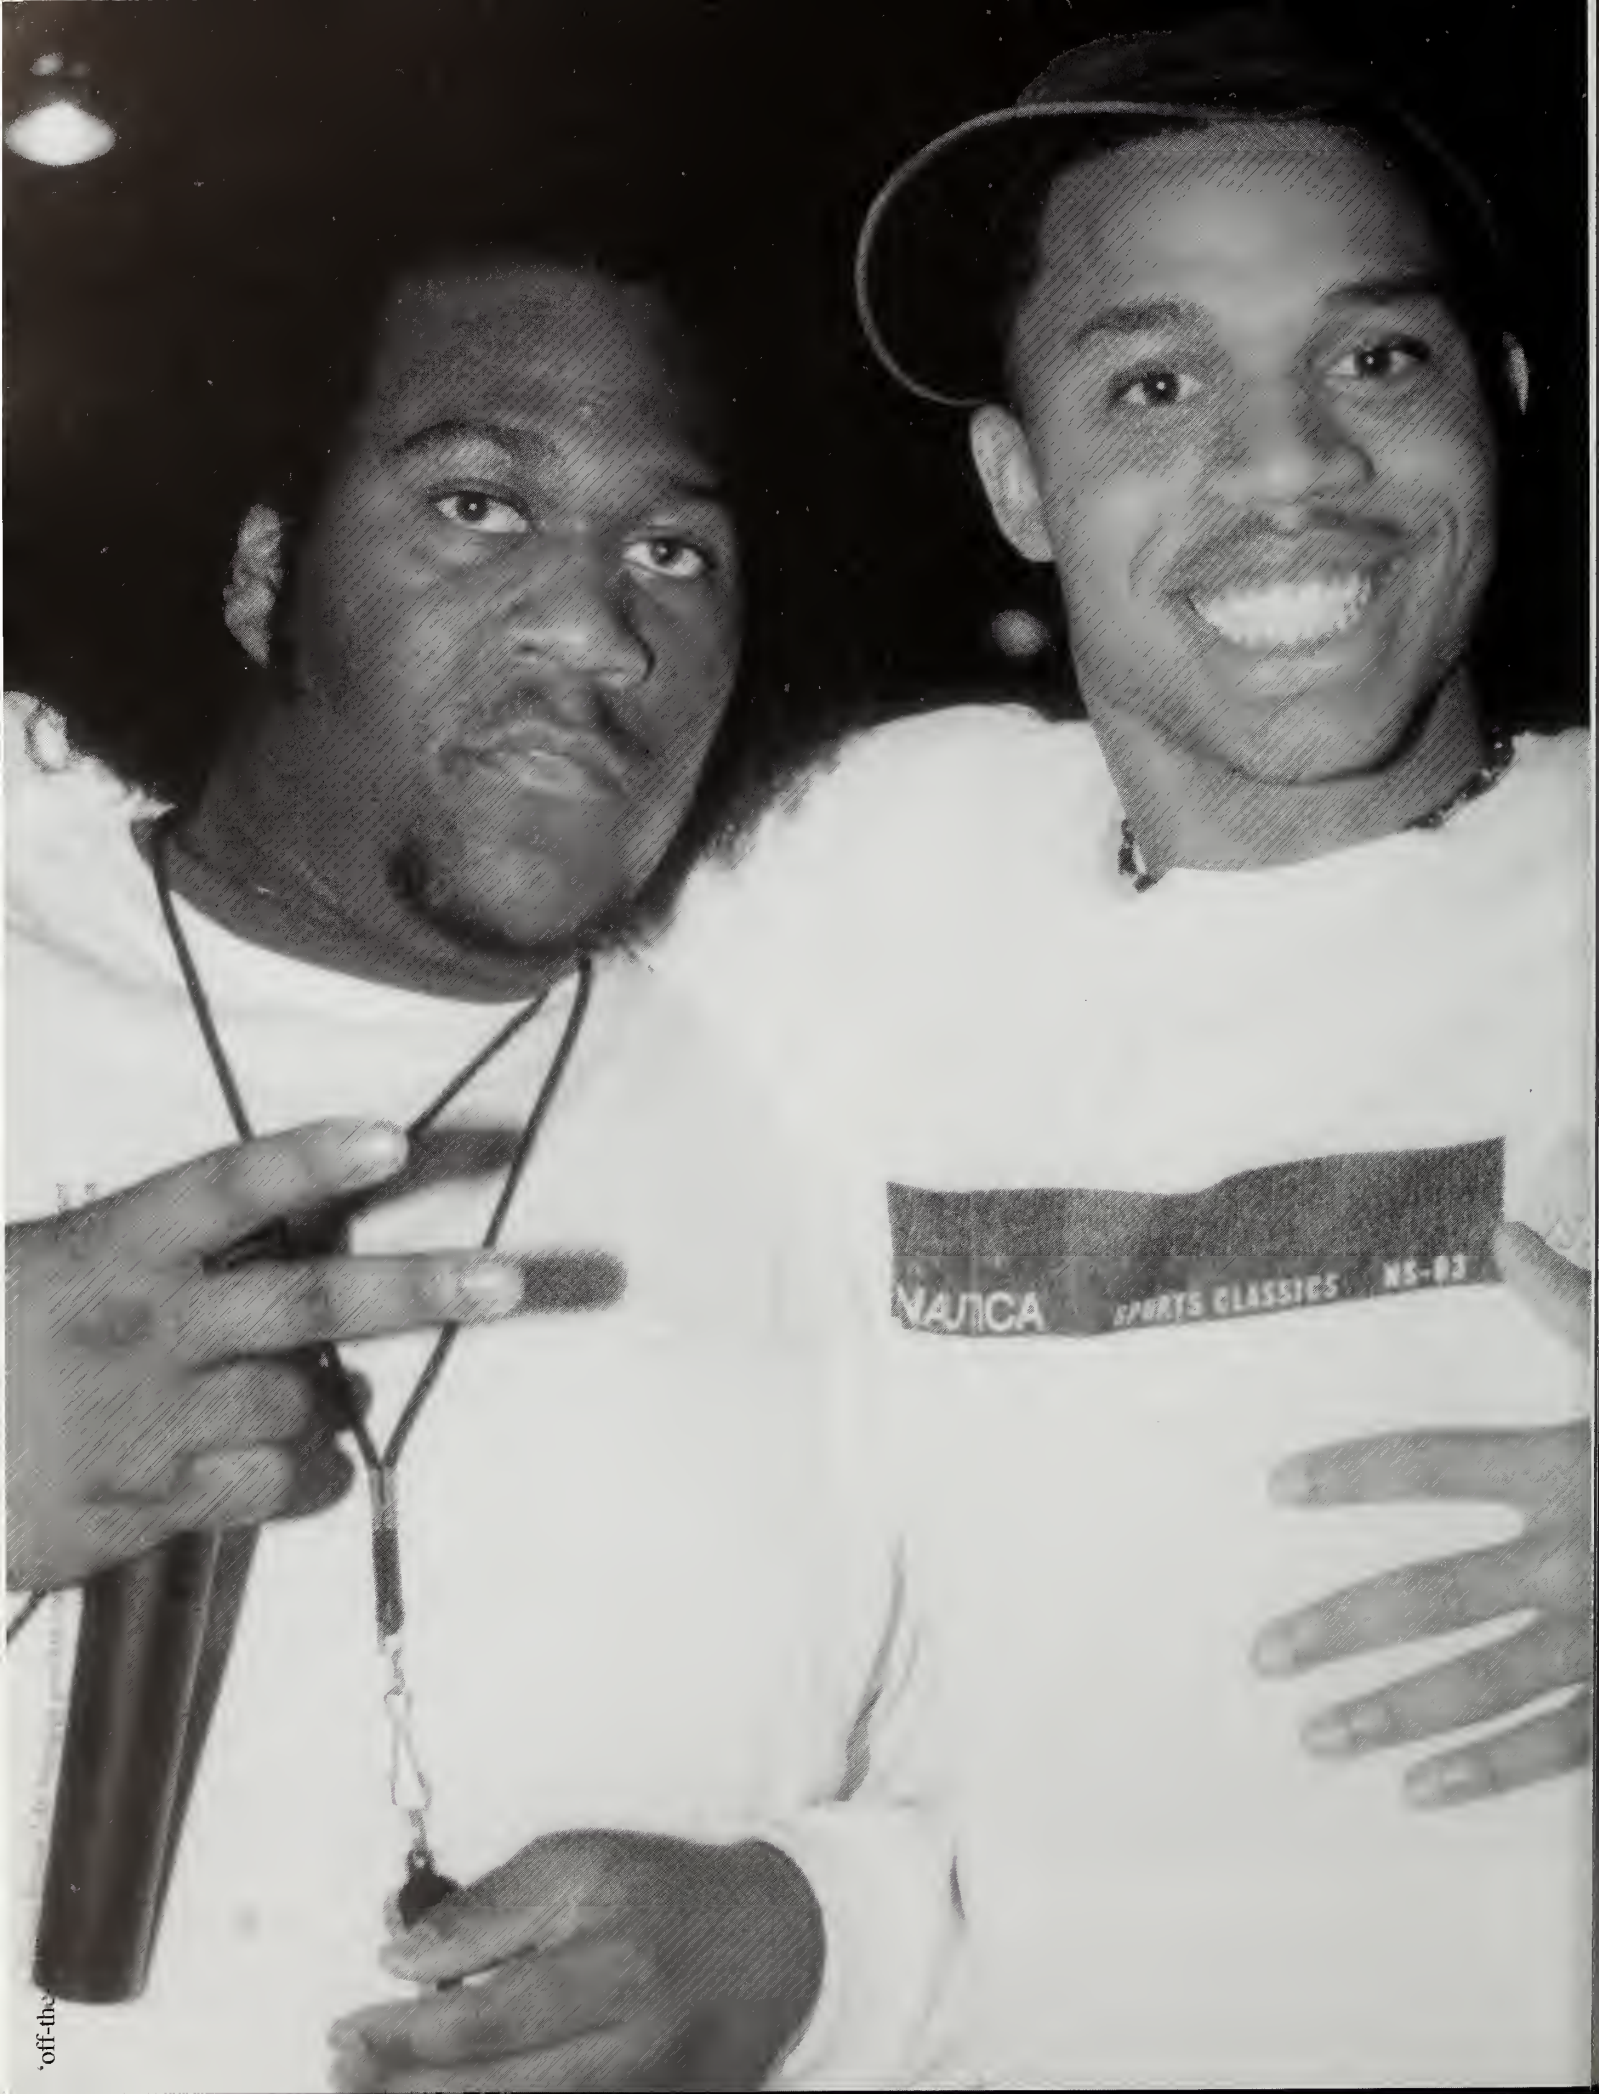

We are Voices of Triumph, a non-profit organization made up of college students who are dedicated to community service. We are the voice in the darkness that speaks a message of truth and hope. We are planning to take this message to the streets. God has called us to present His word through song and scripture to people of all races and every age. We are a group of energetic young people. We are Christ-centered ministry whose mission is to win souls for Christ through our musical abilities that include Children Ministry, Prison Ministry, Street Ministry, and American Sign Language Ministry etc. We are a spiritual army who are untied and powered by the Holy Spirit. When we visit various cities, it is our custom to go out into the surrounding community and invited everyone to join us in worship to God in concert at their near by church. At the end of service we like to give and receive contact information so that we may build relationships for the purpose of bringing souls closer to Christ.

Dearest Gabrielle,

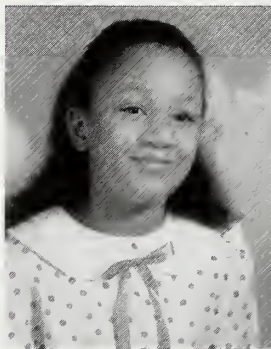

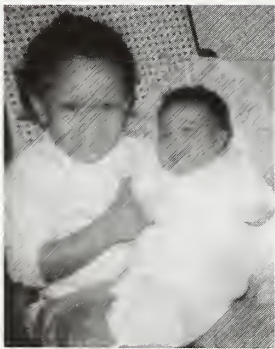

It seems almost impossible that four years of college have happened so quickly. We are so grateful to the LORD for bringing you through yet another milestone in your life. You should know that we are very proud of you for a job well done. We celebrate with you. As you enjoy the moment, kick back a little and take a rest and we'll be right here as you prepare for your next level of education. We are confident that the LORD will place you in the medical school of His choice and that, mydear, will be the best choice.

WE LOVE YOU
WE ARE PROUD OF YOU
WE CONGRATULATE YOU

Your Loving Family,

Daddy, Mommy, and Sister
(Lloyd, Jean, and Ernn Ruff)

Where there is a will there is a way!
Since I am in God's will,
I know He will show me the way.

I would like to praise God for my Mother, who is my role model, my friend, the one who believed in me, never gave up on me and loves me.

I would also like to praise God for my sisters Rosheda and Roshana. You're my inspiration. And I cannot forget my family, my New Hope church family, my friends Oakwood and New York, my brothers and sisters, and Pops.

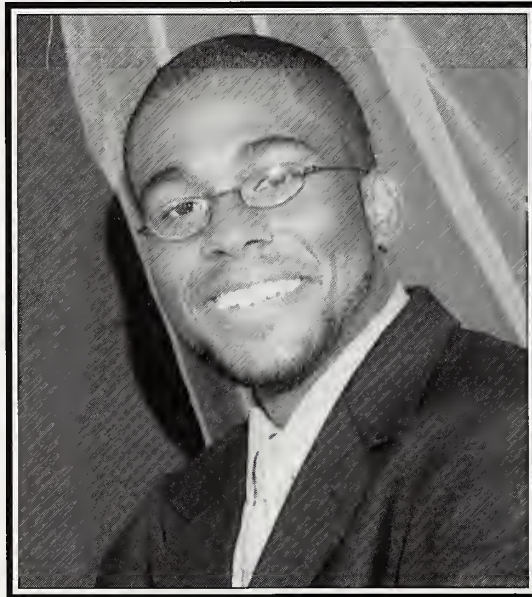

Thank you ALL for your prayers, love and support.

Thank You

Derry O. White "D.O.W."

Congratulations
to our son

RICARDO ALEXANDER DAPHNIS

We are so proud of who you are, and who you are becoming. Continue to set high goals for yourself, and strive to be the BEST! Remember that God's ideal for you is "higher than the highest human thought..." Put Christ first at all times and He will bring you through.

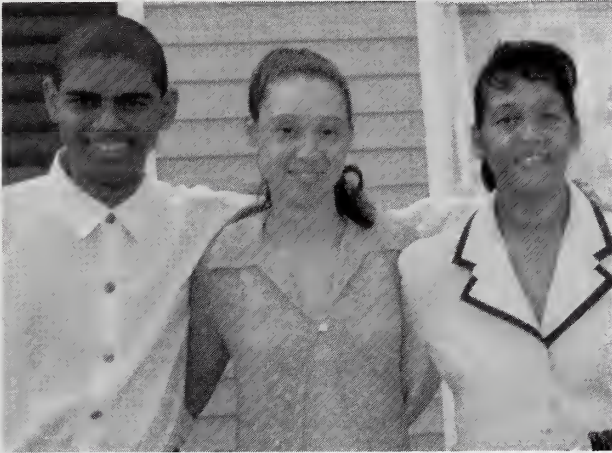

Yes, you can make a difference.

Love,

Mom & Dad

Congratulations

Congratulations on achieving your double bachelor's degree. And as you continue to pursue your studies for your Master's in Health Care Administration and Business Management, make the Lord your priority. Remember that He is the one that has brought you through all of this. Take Him where ever you go. Well done! I am very proud of you.

*Love Always,
Mom*

Congratulations Charmaine!!

We are proud of you!
We knew with the Lord's help you could do it and you did.
Keep your head high, Give the Lord Praise.
The best is yet to come.
If you can dream it, you can achieve it.
Remember: Self-confidence is the best attire;
always appropriate whatever the occasion.

We Love You!

Mom & Dad, Jazzy, Chandra, Auntie Blossom and the church family sends their love.....

Our Dearest Daughter Kianna,

Never Forget

How Much We Love You

Sometimes parent's don't make their feelings clear; they assume that their children know of the deep love they feel for them. Yet when misunderstandings occur, and things are left unsaid, it can lead to needless doubts and insecurities.

We don't ever want you to feel insecure, and we want you to remember these words we are telling you now, because they will always be current and never changing....

You are one of the greatest gifts that God has endowed upon us. There is nothing we would rather see than your smile, or rather hear than your laughter.

We are proud of the person that you have become. And no matter what happens in your life, we have confidence in your ability to make the right choices. We Love You.

Thank you for all the wonderful memories you have given us.

Always remember the wonderful lessons you learned from Grandma Edmonde. Although she is no longer here to celebrate with you, know that she too was very proud of you. Carry her memory forever in your heart until you see her again on that great reunion day.

Congratulations!!!

Love you always
Mom & Dad

Kiki,

We are so proud of you big sister. Always keep God in your heart and you will achieve all your dreams and aspirations. God bless you always. Congratulations & Good Luck!!!

Love you forever,
Nikki & Mikey

Ya'll made us proud!

Over the past years you each have grown into mature, educated adults. Through life's hard lessons you've all stood strong not compromising your goals; supporting and encouraging each other along the way. Always remember God as you enter another phase of your lives.

We thank God for each of you.

Congratulations!!

For the past 17 years you have been working towards this point. The time has finally come, and we are overwhelmed with pride, joy, and admiration. You have always said that you were placed on this earth to do big things. Now here's your chance. You are a very intelligent lady and you have the ability and the determination to be great one day. Keep your mind and soul focused on God and he will see you through.

Congratulations to you on your achievement. May God continue to bless you in your future endeavors.

big ballers

From the park, to the gym and finally the real wood. Students and players alike enjoyed a game in a new setting. Hosted by the NBDL Hunstville Flight team the Ambassador guys and girls played a home game on the Von Braun court. The night was highlighted as the guys beat our sister school, Columbia Union College, Washington, D.C.; the Aerostars tumbling for half-time; and the girls putting up a good game worth watching. We even got to see Oakwood student interns at work during the Flight game. BIG Ball-ers!!

an evening with the stars

2003 spring banquet

an elegant night of fun

f e s t i v e

The fizz, pops and glare of the 2003 Banquet opening act brought sparkles to the eyes of the unexpectant guests. A pyrotechnic display, along with vibrant voices and song of gospel recording artists (and Oakwood Alumni!) VIRTUE set the spirit of the night, leaving guest wondering what better was to come. Their curiosity was quickly relieved as the jam-packed 3-hour program moved smoothly along.

Spicing up the plain old banquet regiment Jerry Martin USM Social Vice and team themed the banquet "Night Among the Stars." The Oak Awards, patterned after the Emmys, highlighted students (stars of the evening) who were nominated in categories by peers. The intermission acts were performed by Sean Tillery, Soul Cry, Marcus Higgs, "The Band" and a few others. Awards were presented by students from all classifications and genders. The elegant night is truly to be remembered.

come on, braid my hair

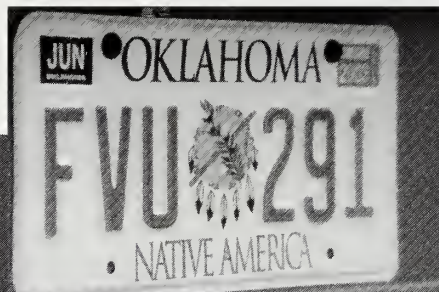

"What time can you do it, Thursday night in the TV room at Ford, or Friday afternoon outside on the bench, or downstairs in Blake?"

A question that many Oakwood men ask, as we prepare ourselves to get braided, twisted, corn rolled, or platted up for the weekends festivities we simply ask... "Can you braid my hair?"

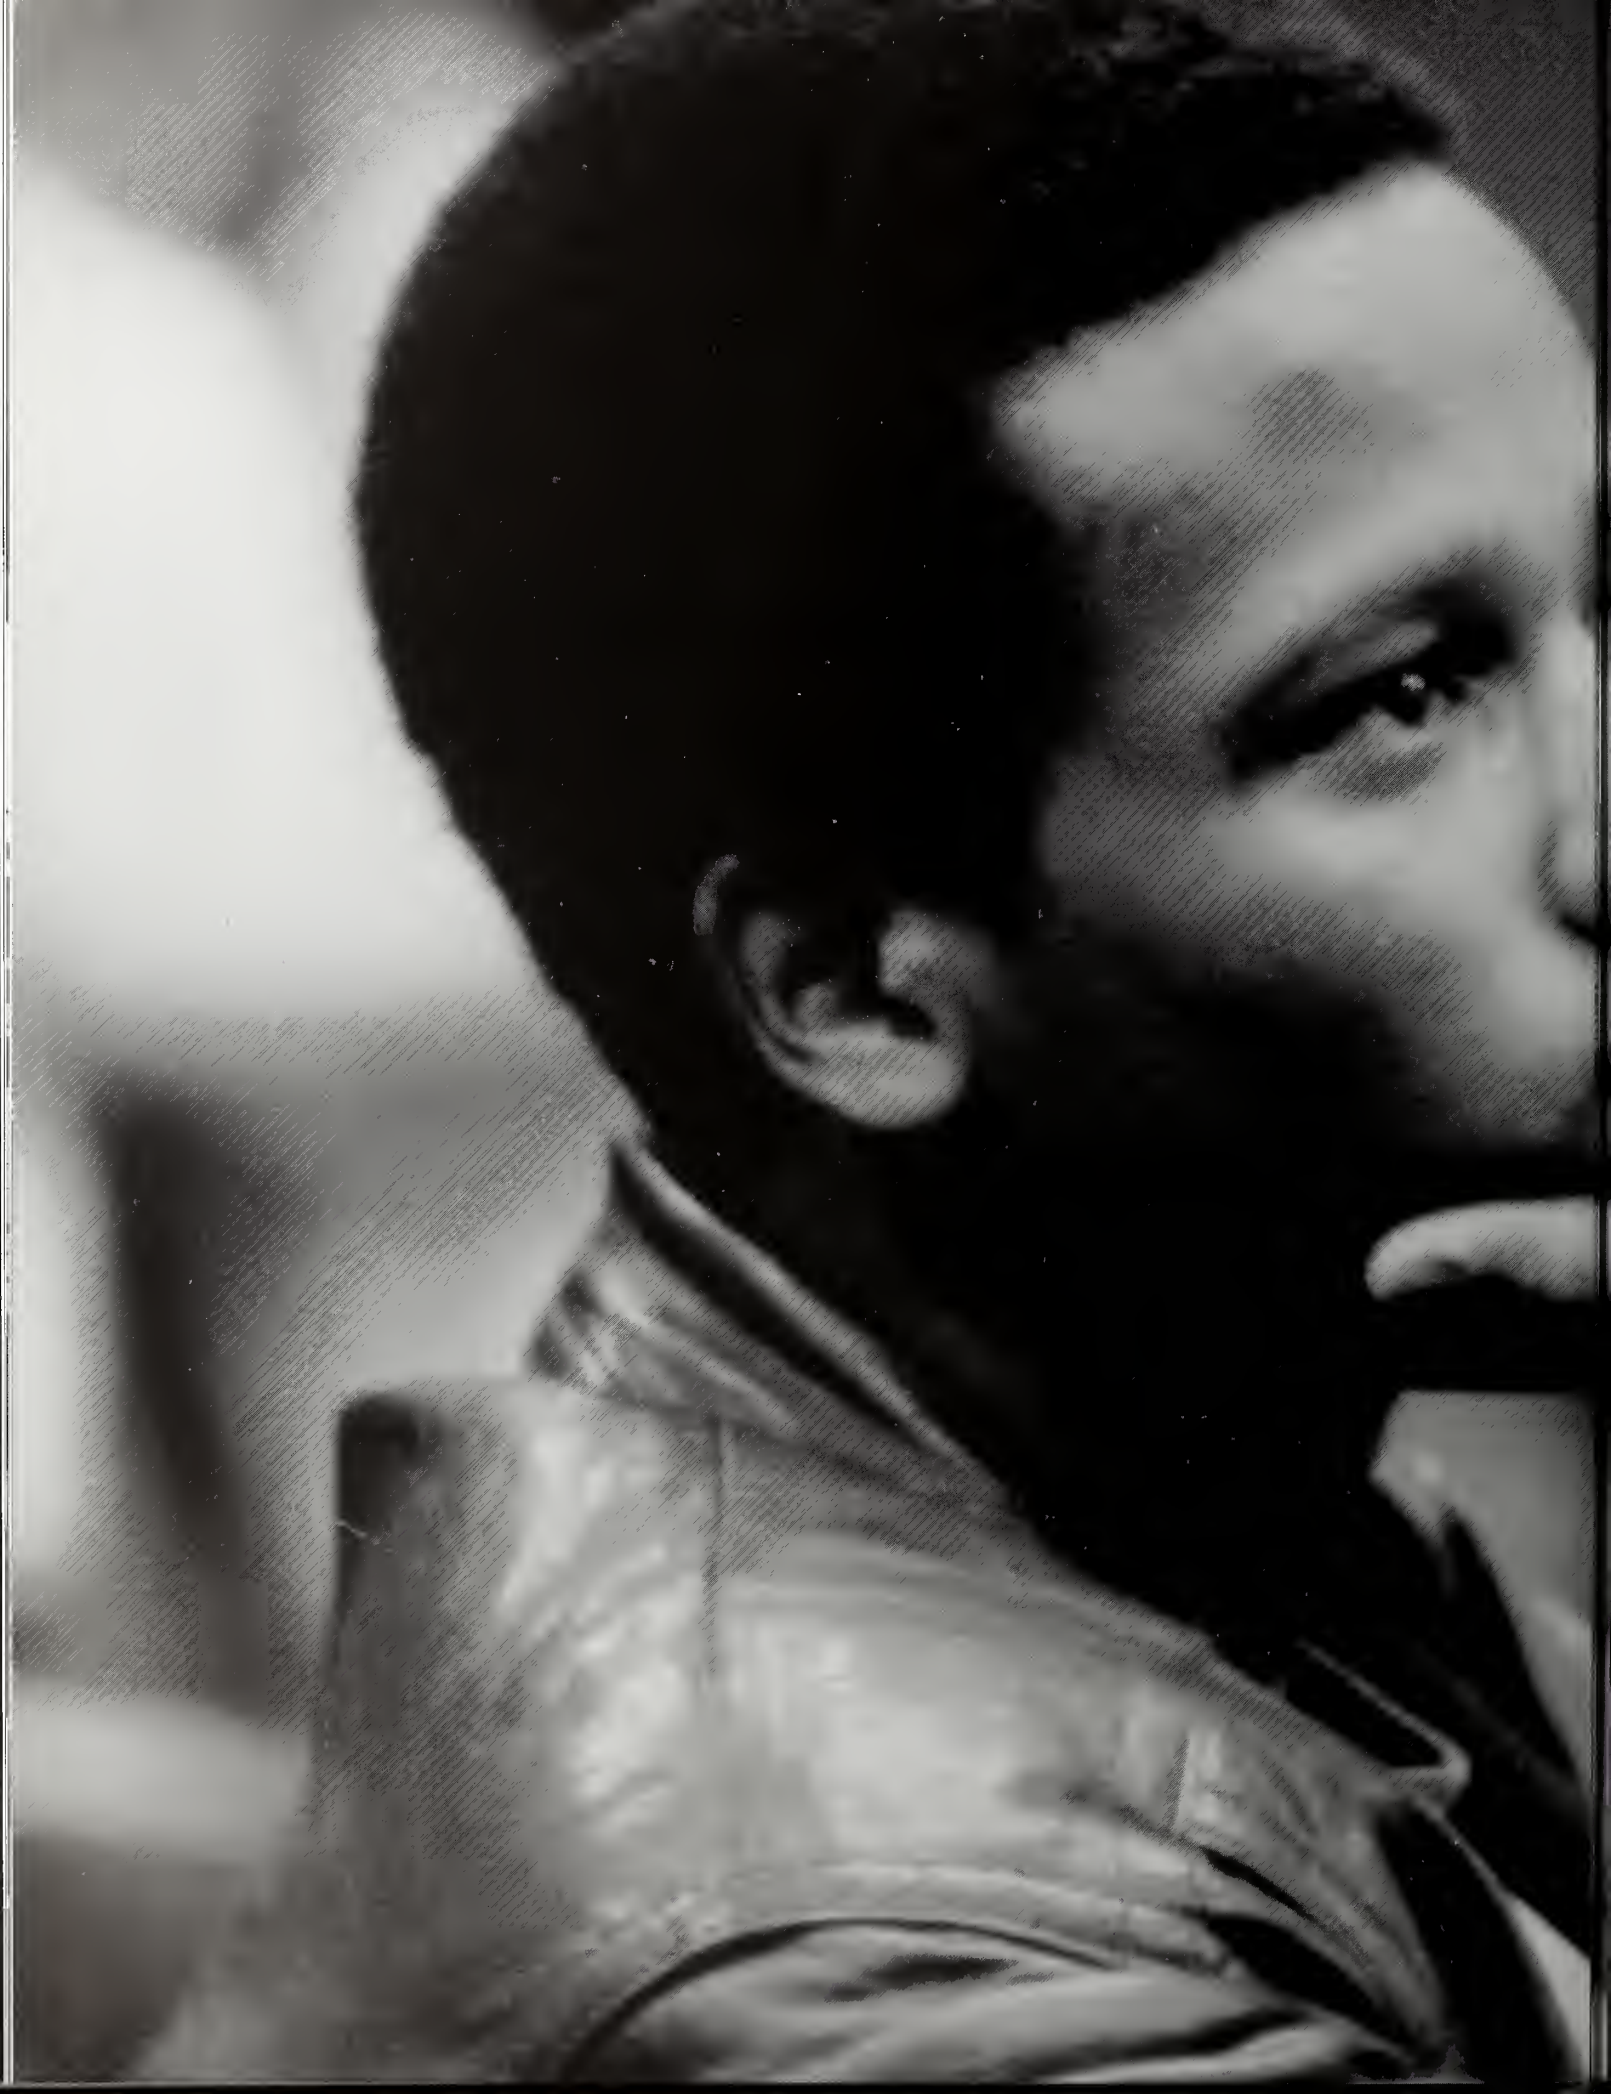

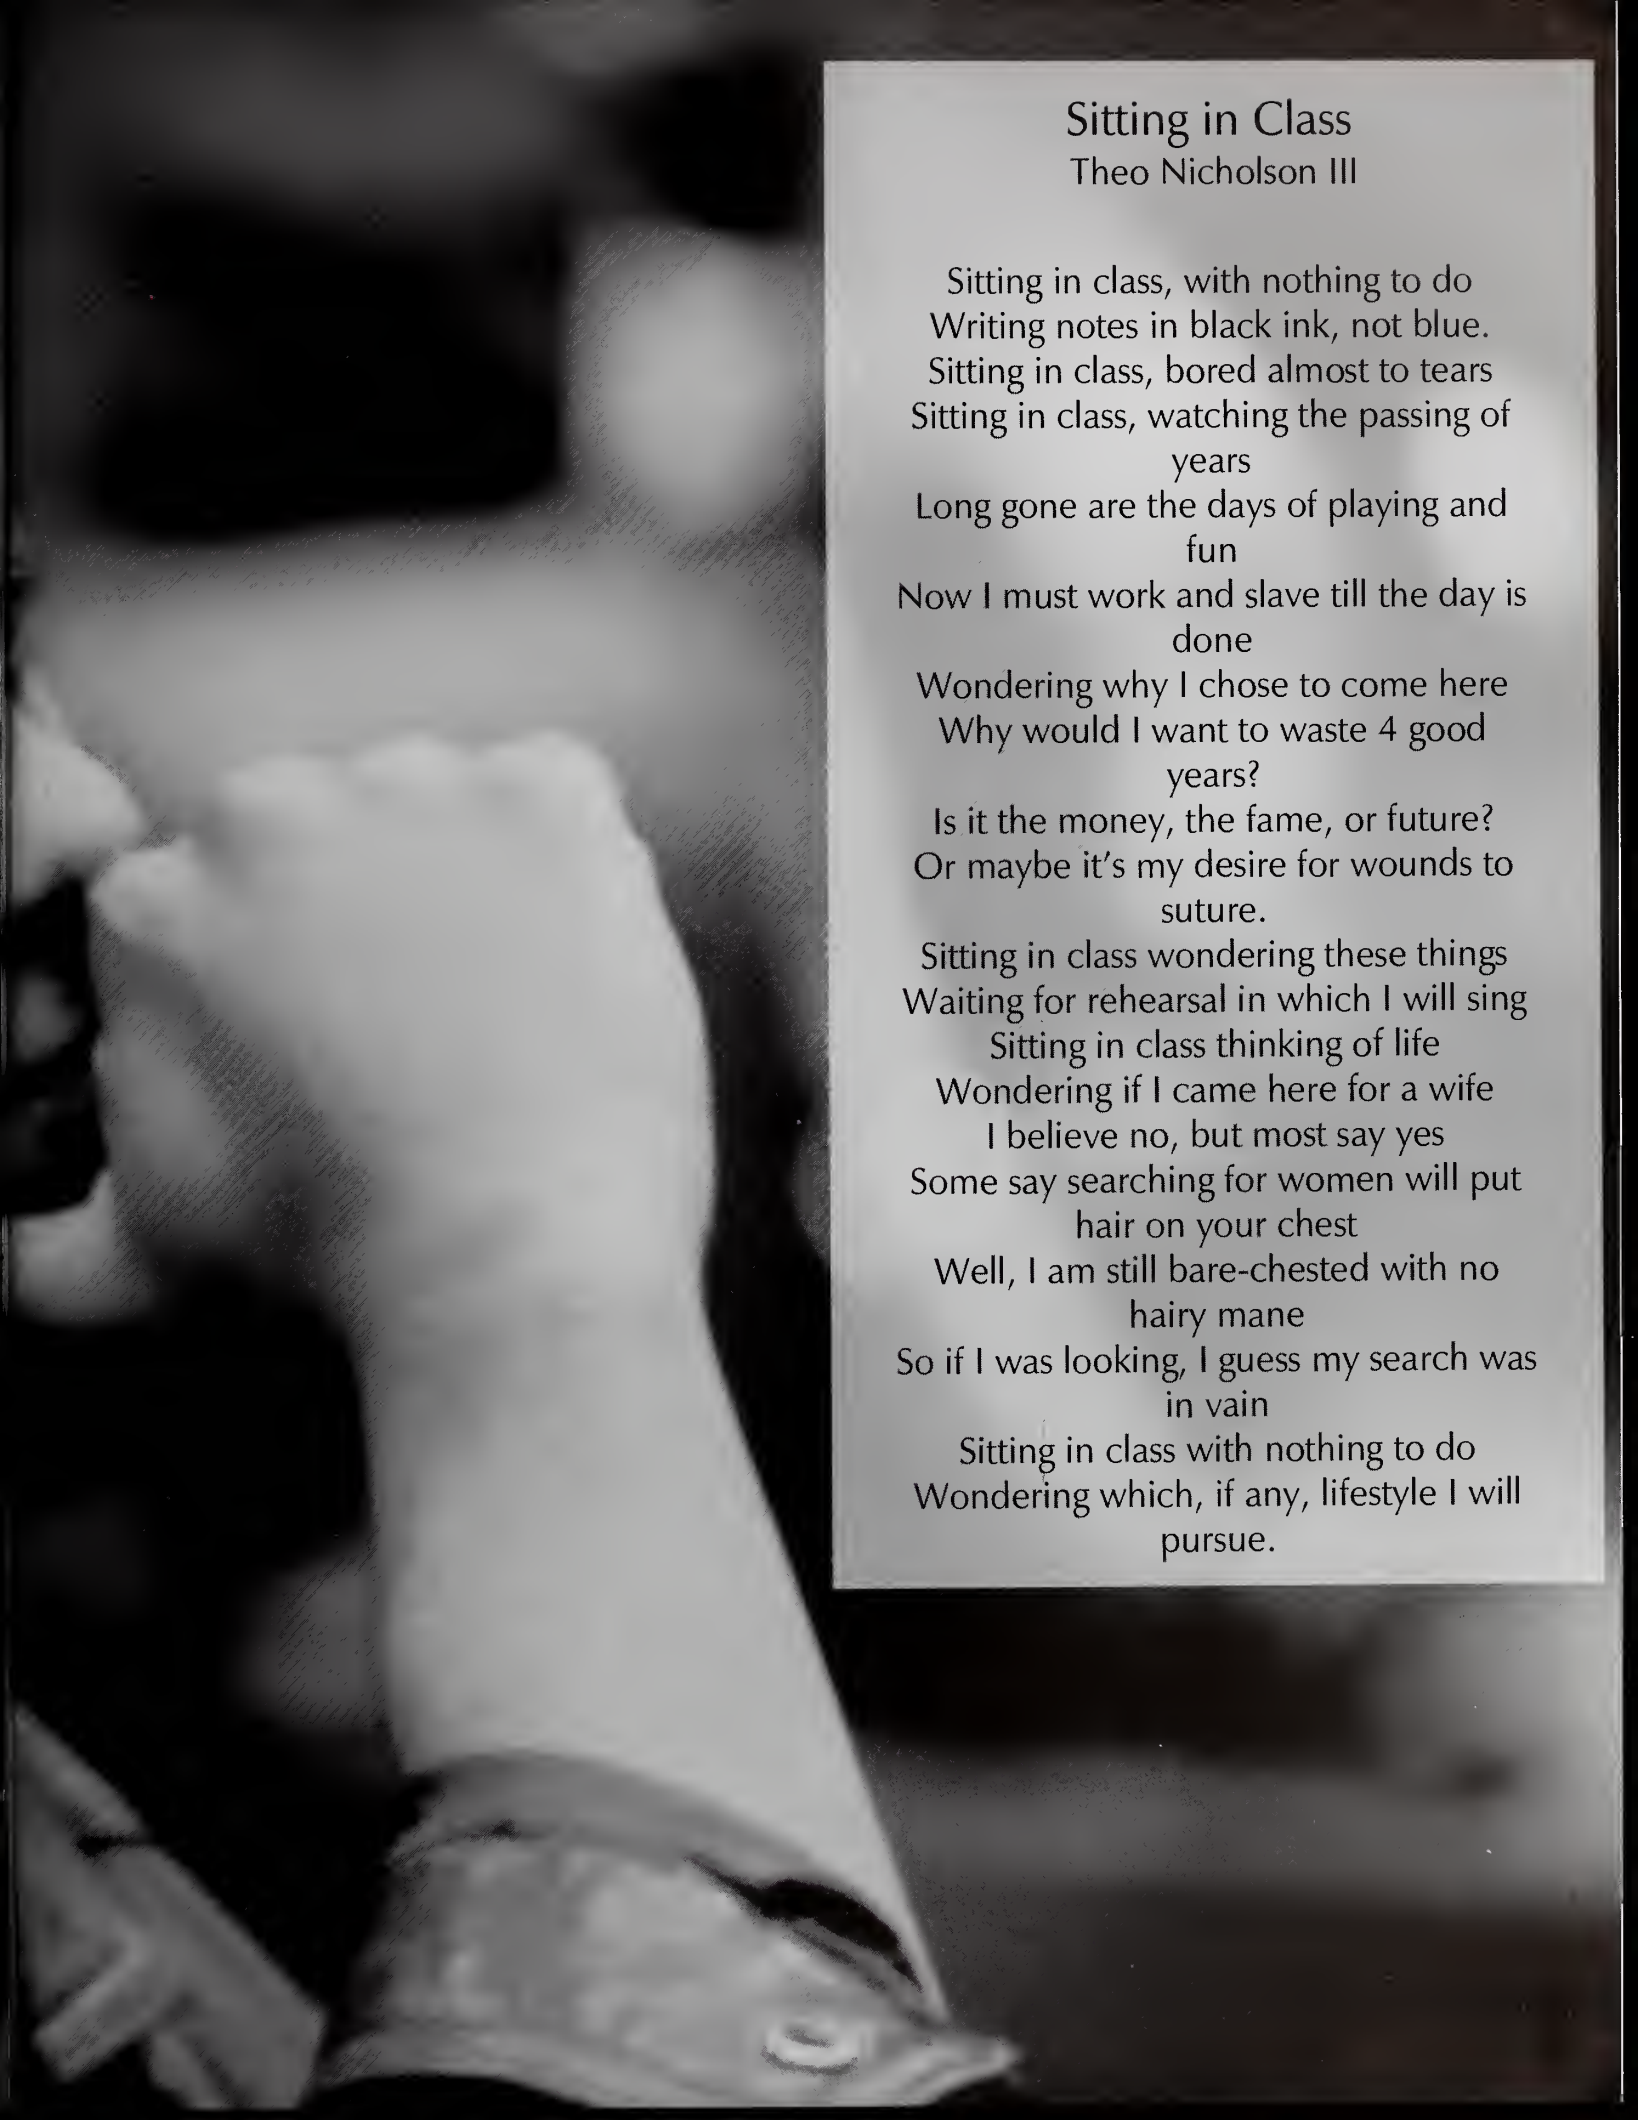

Wheels keep spinnin'

Students travel to Oakwood in a variety of ways, via the friendly skies, rails, or even the dreaded Greyhound, but the mast majority make their expedition to Oakwood on the wings of Goodyear and the tread of Michellin tires. Some trek from Canada and Cal others from Texas and Tennessee. For some it's an hour's drive, for others it's a week. But as the farmlands, lowlands, and country mile pass Oakwoodites are brought home. Sports cars, sedans, SUVs, and trucks with various tags fill Oakwood parking lots, their passengers' road to graduation a little friendlier.

Sitting in Class

Theo Nicholson III

Sitting in class, with nothing to do
Writing notes in black ink, not blue.
Sitting in class, bored almost to tears Sitting in class, watching the passing of years

Long gone are the days of playing and fun

Now I must work and slave till the day is done

Wondering why I chose to come here
Why would I want to waste 4 good years?

Is it the money, the fame, or future?
Or maybe it's my desire for wounds to suture.

Sitting in class wondering these things
Waiting for rehearsal in which I will sing

Sitting in class thinking of life
Wondering if I came here for a wife
I believe no, but most say yes

Some say searching for women will put hair on your chest

Well, I am still bare-chested with no hairy mane

So if I was looking, I guess my search was in vain

Sitting in class with nothing to do Wondering which, if any, lifestyle I will pursue.

Dedication. a word that has a whole new meaning to me. It is when you stand in the mental darkness and wait. Not idle though, because that is not productivity. It's the laughter when cussing is expected, the hope that it will begin instead of end.

Dedication trusts others while unsure of you. Wonders why anyone ever did it, instead of how they did. Knowing that everything has to work together while remembering to pray. This year was a truly unexplainable. I now see why past editors and staff began writing on the walls. The ultimate rush gained from a squeaky marker against the surface of a cold, red brick is better than taking anyone's headache medication. This rare outlet, that is fascinating artwork to many is a life support. Sitting back you feel the stress and struggles of staffs past. You get the spirit of dedication; my meaning of dedication deeper than Webster's but not profound. Asked why I ever accepted the responsibility, my answer was not clear to me. Now it is...it's the walls.
